The Gathering in the Gap was created with the intention of preserving and celebrating the musical culture of Southwest Virginia. Always hosted on Memorial Day weekend in Big Stone Gap, Virginia, the Museum sees an increase in attendees each year with a growing diversity of people from all across the nation and the world!
The festival really does have something for everyone!

The festival includes a pass to visit the Museum and the Annual Quilt Show, a main stage evening show, an Acoustic Arbor where local musicians play, a competition stage for Old-Time and Bluegrass musicians and bands, a songwriting competition in which the winner wins a free recording session at the Grammy-Award winning: Maggard Studio in Big Stone Gap, VA, workshops, food, art, and antique vendors as well as a view of the astoundingly beautiful Appalachian Mountains!

In honor of the Museum’s 65th Anniversary, ten inductees were added to the Southwest Virginia Museum Historical State Park’s Walk of Fame: Maybelle Carter, Peggie Castle, “Bullet Bill” Dudley, Carrol Dale, Honorable Cynthia Fannon Kinser, Dr. Miriam Morris Fuller, Jim & Jesse McReynolds, Dr. Joseph Smiddy, Frank Rowlett, and Dr. Ralph Stanley.

The Walk of Fame honors those from Southwest Virginia that have made an unforgettable contribution to not only the region, but the world.

Virginia Delegate Terry Kilgore and the Director of the Virginia Department of Conservation and Recreation were both present to award the inductees.

(Stay tuned for a comprehensive blog on the Walk of Fame).

Gathering with Friends and Family Every Year!
The Gathering in the Gap is always truly a ‘gathering’ for me. Especially after I went to college ~6 hours from home, the gathering serves as a day for me to catch up with the locals of Big Stone Gap, VA as well as my family.
My aunt and I (Elizabeth Carter Stapleton) ;) spoke with John Carter Cash and snapped a picture together.
My mother and father both work very hard as Friends of the Museum Volunteers each year at the festival. My mother is one of the cooks for the musicians of the festival. Dad helps with the admissions gate or wherever he is needed.
